

Open Lab Times

The following table shows when you can use the lab computers outside your regularly scheduled lab times. “Open” means that at least one lab is not being used by a class; it may or may not be the room you regularly use. All the computers are linked to the same server, so it does not matter which computer you use.

The lab equipment cannot be used outside your regularly scheduled times unless you have obtained permission from Dr. Driscoll.

You must respect the facilities or you may lose the right to use them. This includes cleaning up before leaving.
